

The book was found

Escaping The Nazis On The Kindertransport (Encounter: Narrative Nonfiction Stories)

Synopsis

A powerful introduction to the Holocaust for grade school students. Designed to look and feel like an old picture album or scrapbook, this book uses memoir pieces, poems and photographs to tell the story of seven Jewish children who were rescued from Nazi Germany and brought to new homes in the United Kingdom. Individual stories are told in the third person from the child's point of view. Through the stories of Tom Berman, Kurt Fuchel, Harry Ebert, Irene Schmeid, Hans Schneider, Ursula Rosenfeld, and Jack Hellman, readers are given an insightful perspective on the Holocaust.

Book Information

Lexile Measure: 850L (What's this?)

Series: Encounter: Narrative Nonfiction Stories

Paperback: 112 pages

Publisher: Capstone Press (February 1, 2017)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 1515745465

ISBN-13: 978-1515745464

Product Dimensions: 5.9 x 0.4 x 8.8 inches

Shipping Weight: 7.8 ounces (View shipping rates and policies)

Average Customer Review: 4.3 out of 5 stars 4 customer reviews

Best Sellers Rank: #382,406 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #63 in Books > Children's Books > Education & Reference > History > Holocaust #163 in Books > Children's Books > Education & Reference > History > Europe #237 in Books > Children's Books > Education & Reference > History > Military & Wars

Age Range: 8 - 12 years

Grade Level: 3 - 4

Customer Reviews

Emma Carlson Berne has written numerous historical and biographical books for children and young adults, as well as young adult fiction. She lives in Cincinnati with her husband and two sons.

Many books have been written for middle school students about the Jews in Nazi Germany. In Escaping the Nazis on the Kindertransport, Emma Carlson Berne shares a piece of their story with children aged 8-12. As a teacher I could certainly see this book also being used as a resource for older students who are reading below grade level as it has an interest level appropriate to them as well. The physical book is designed with the look and feel of an aging family picture album. There are seven chapters that focus on individual children who were part of the 10,000 children rescued from Nazi controlled areas and relocated to the United Kingdom prior to the beginning of World War II. Their story is told in the third person but from the child's perspective. The first chapter begins with a poem "The Leather Suitcase" written by Tom Berman who was saved as a 5 year old child by a Kindertransport. Some background is given as it describes what it must have been like for such a young boy to be separated from his parents for a long trip to an unfamiliar country with a different language, not knowing if he would ever see them again. This chapter captures the reader's interest immediately. The next chapter, "From Kristallnacht to Kindertransport," gives more historical details about the increasing persecution of the Jews and their limited options for survival. Then the book returns to the stories of individual children, ending with a chapter that briefly recounts what happened to each child after the Kindertransport. It might be specifics of their time living with another family, further emigration, or an ultimate career, depending on their circumstances and the source documents available. There is also general statistical information about the 10,000 children of the Kindertransport. There are study resources at the end of the book. The "Timeline" integrates important historical dates of the war with major events related to the Kindertransport and the seven children whose rescues are detailed in the book. The "Glossary," of course, defines unfamiliar terms such as "haftarah" and "pogrom" which are used in the book. Next is a page which explains The Kindertransport Association (KTA), whose president was a consultant for the book. The KTA is comprised of the rescued Kinder, as they call themselves, and their descendants. "Read More" lists three more books on the topic for young readers. There is a page of discussion questions to evoke higher level thinking and several pages devoted to bibliography, source notes, and an index. Escaping the Nazis on the Kindertransport is a valuable teaching resource, drawing from original sources. The length of the chapters is appropriate for this age level as well as for typical time periods in the school day. It could be used for independent reading or group study, but because of the difficult nature of the subject matter and the age of the intended reader, I definitely suggest adult support. The author handles the ugly reality of Nazi Germany with restraint without hiding the brutal truths of beatings, interments, and death. Being drawn into their stories will be troubling for some youngsters, especially those for whom this is their introduction to Holocaust studies. I highly recommend Escaping the Nazis on the Kindertransport as an integrative teaching tool combining reading with social studies, especially history and geography. It abounds with possibilities for discussions to stretch young thinkers to make new connections and offers opportunities for deep enrichment of vocabulary. Even as an adult, I found the book well written, interesting, and a source of new learning. I would like to extend my thanks to netgalley.com and to Capstone Press for giving me the opportunity to read this book in exchange for an honest review.

Capstone Press and NetGalley provided me with an electronic copy of Escaping the Nazis on the Kindertransport. This is my honest opinion of the book. With personal narratives and recollections dotting the pages, Escaping the Nazis on the Kindertransport is the story of some of the ten thousand Jewish children. Rescued from Nazi occupied Germany and other surrounding areas, the children were brought to the United Kingdom from 1938 until 1940. The children, babies on up to the age of 17, were placed on all modes of transportation without supervision or guidance. Their transport had to be paid by private citizens or aid organizations, as the British government needed to stay neutral on the subject. Great Britain was allowed by Germany to accept the children, as they were not wanted by their homeland. Britain would not grant them citizenship, but the temporary visas would keep them in the country until the war was over. The first kindertransport arrived in Harwich, England on December 2, 1938. The last transport from Germany was in September 1939 and the last from the Netherlands was in May of 1940. Through the stories of Tom Berman, Kurt Fuchel, Harry Ebert, Irene Schmeid, Hans Schneider, Ursula Rosenfeld, and Jack Hellman, readers are able to appreciate both the scale of the operation and its effectiveness. Escaping the Nazis on the Kindertransport was written with younger readers in mind, as the stories definitely show a more uplifting side instead of just the horrors. I would recommend this to younger readers or for adults to use to get acquainted with the subject matter.

This is a very informative and interesting book, telling the stories of 7 of the more than 10,000 children who were sent out of Germany to refuge in Britain on the eve of World War II. Their brave parents put them on trains, not knowing if they would ever see them again, and in many cases they didn't. The children grew up to be successful citizens, however, and were grateful for their rescue. I received a free ecopy of this book from NetGalley and chose to write an honest review.

I received a free electronic copy of this work from Netgalley, Emma Carlson Berne, and Capstone, Capstone Press in exchange for an honest review. Thank you, for sharing your work with me. This is an excellent book for tweenies and teens - possibly even younger children. It explains the kindertransport and the reasons behind it and the night of breaking glass without graphic details. The photos of the children and their parents that were packed in their suitcases before they were placed on the train are exquisite. The fact that they never got to see their parents again is heartbreaking.

Download to continue reading...

Escaping the Nazis on the Kindertransport (Encounter: Narrative Nonfiction Stories) Escape from Alcatraz: The Mystery of the Three Men Who Escaped From The Rock (Encounter: Narrative Nonfiction Stories) Hygge: The Danish Art of Living Happy, Finding the Joy in Simple Things and Escaping the Stresses of Modern Life (Hygge, Happiness, Finding Joy, Escaping Stress) Saved by the Boats: The Heroic Sea Evacuation of September 11 (Encounter: Narrative Nonfiction Picture Books) For the Right to Learn (Encounter: Narrative Nonfiction Picture Books) For the Right to Learn: Malala Yousafzai's Story (Encounter: Narrative Nonfiction Picture Books) Jars of Hope: How One Woman Helped Save 2,500 Children During the Holocaust (Encounter: Narrative Nonfiction Picture Books) Hedy's Journey: The True Story of a Hungarian Girl Fleeing the Holocaust (Encounter: Narrative Nonfiction Picture Books) Into the Arms of Strangers: Stories of the Kindertransport The Children of Willesden Lane: Beyond the Kindertransport: A Memoir of Music, Love, and Survival Lonely Planet Prague Encounter (Lonely Planet Encounter Guides) Bedtime Stories for Kids: Short Bedtime Stories for Children: (Bedtime Stories for Babies, Bedtime stories for Kids Ages 4-8, Uncle Nick's Bedtime Stories ... (Uncle Nick's Bedtime Stories for Kids) Bedtime Stories for Children: Short Bedtime Stories for Kids: (Bedtime Stories for Babies, Bedtime stories for Kids Ages 4-8, Uncle Nick's Fun Bedtime ... Nick's Bedtime Stories for Kids Book 3) Bedtime Stories for Kids: Short Bedtime Stories for Children: (Bedtime Stories for Babies, Bedtime stories for Kids Ages 4-8, Uncle Nick's Fun Bedtime ... Nick's Bedtime Stories for Kids Book 1) Bologna Annual '98: Nonfiction (Bologna Annual: Nonfiction) Moon (First Step Nonfiction) (First Step Nonfiction (Paperback)) The Curse of the Pharaohs : My Adventures with Mummies (Bccb Blue Ribbon Nonfiction Book Award (Awards)) (Bccb Blue Ribbon Nonfiction Book Award (Awards)) The Nonfiction Outline Book: How to write a book includes 12 Nonfiction Book Outline Templates Amazing Stories of the Space Age: True Tales of Nazis in Orbit, Soldiers on the Moon, Orphaned Martian Robots, and Other Fascinating Accounts from the Annals of Spaceflight Hidden on the Mountain: Stories of Children Sheltered from the Nazis in Le Chambon

Contact Us

DMCA

Privacy

FAQ & Help