African American Art 2012 Calendar

Synopsis

For more than two centuries African Americans have contributed to the rich history of art in the United States. This calendar celebrates that participation, exploring the variety of styles and media employed by twelve black American artists—Charles Ethan Porter, Beauford Delaney, William H. Johnson, Charles Alston, Hughie Lee-Smith, Alma Thomas, Romare Bearden, Benny Andrews, Charles White, William E. Scott, Hale Woodruff, and Betye Saar. The vibrant images presented here reveal inspiration from a range of sources: jazz and blues, country roads, the toil of laborers, everyday life, and the art of Europe and Africa. Size: 12 x 13 in.; opens to 12 x 26 in. Printed on FSC certified paper with soy-based inks.

Customer Reviews

I wanted a calendar that would serve as history references and be attractive artistically. This does both. It is something attractive and informative to look at everyday.

I purchased this calendar on line. I still have not received my calendar as of yet. I have e-mail the company, and the follow-up has been bad. I am wondering if it will be a new year before I see my product?
